It has been a long time since we have seen significant moisture here in Nebraska. While we desperately need the moisture from the rainfall and snowfall, it is beginning to interfere with the planting season, with almost no corn planted in the state as of April 18.

Even though there is a lot of concern over this issue, our farmers will plant the crop very quickly once they are able to get into the fields.

Crop insurance is a major item at this time of year. With so many different types of insurance available it is critical to secure the proper coverage. Austin Company has several agents available to help you make the right choice of insurance for your farm. Feel free to give us a call at any time if you have questions. There is no obligation and no charge for this contact.
